Experiential Short-Term Dynamic Psychotherapy

Ferruccio Osimo 2003

They say places like Dry Creek no longer exist. In Stories from the Creekbank, you'll travel to a delightful place where good people and wonderful experiences can still be found. As you sit along the creek bank to read these heartwarming stories, you'll both laugh and cry as you travel down the creeks, roads, and into the hearts and lives of the people who make up this special community called Dry Creek, Louisiana. Whether it's a country preacher ruining his prize white suit, helping corral horses on a muddy road in "Bro. Hodges' Best Sermon," a homesick seven-year-old summer camper in "Seth's Big Camp Day," or the heart-rending sadness of losing a special teenager in "A Bright Light," you'll be both touched and encouraged by these inspiring stories. All through these fifty short stories, a common thread is woven: God is so good and He is active all around us in nature, the people we see each day, and the simple daily events of our lives. In this second edition, you'll enjoy each of the original forty-eight stories plus two previously unpublished bonus stories. Come join thousands of other readers who have been warmed and touched by these reminders of the priceless things in our lives. Come be reminded as to how "the things that really matter aren't things," but matters of the heart, soul, our faith, families, and friends.

Researching in the Age of COVID-19 Vol 2 Kara, Helen 2020-10-23 As researchers have begun to adapt to the continuing presence of COVID-19, they have also begun to reflect more deeply on fundamental research issues and assumptions. Researchers around the world have responded in diverse, thoughtful and creative ways – from adapting data collection methods to fostering researcher and community resilience, while also attending to often urgent needs for care. This book, part of a series of three Rapid Responses, connects themes of care and resilience, addressing their common concern with wellbeing. It has three parts: addressing researchers’ wellbeing, considering participants’ wellbeing, and exploring care and resilience as a shared and mutually entangled concern. The other two books focus on Response and Reassessment, and Creativity and Ethics. Together they help academic, applied and practitioner-researchers worldwide adapt to the new challenges COVID-19 brings.

Parentology Dalton Conley 2014-03-18 An award-winning scientist offers his unorthodox approach to childrearing: “Parentology is brilliant, jaw-droppingly funny, and full of wisdom...bound to change your thinking about parenting and its conventions” (Amy Chua, author of Battle Hymn of the Tiger Mother). If you’re like many parents, you might ask family and friends for advice when faced with important choices about how to raise your kids. You might turn to parenting books or simply rely on timeworn religious or cultural traditions. But when Dalton Conley, a dual-doctorate scientist and full-blown nerd, needed childrearing advice, he turned to scientific research to make the big decisions. In Parentology, Conley hilariously reports the results of those experiments, from bribing his kids to do math (since studies show conditional cash transfers improved educational and health outcomes for kids) to teaching them impulse control by giving them weird names (because evidence shows kids with unique names learn not to react when their peers tease them) to getting a vasectomy (because fewer kids in a family mean smarter kids). Conley encourages parents to draw on the latest data to rear children, if only because that level of engagement with kids will produce solid and happy ones. Ultimately these experiments are very loving, and the outcomes are redemptive—even when Conley's sassy kids show him the limits of his profession. Parentology teaches you everything you need to know about the latest literature on parenting—with lessons that go down easy. You’ll be laughing and learning at the same time.

Don't Say a Word Beverly Barton 2011-10-24 A young detective’s first case in Tennessee puts her on the path of a gruesome serial killer in the New York Times bestselling author’s romantic thriller. One by one, they will die. He has waited patiently, envisioning their final moments. Their tortured screams, their pleas for mercy—all will be in vain as he executes his sadistic plan. Homicide detective Julia Cass has witnessed plenty of crime scenes. But the murder of a Chattanooga judge is shocking in its brutality. Teamed with FBI agent Will Brannock, Julia delves into an investigation that soon unearths more bodies—all mutilated in the same way, all left with a gruesome souvenir of a killer's ruthless rage . . . The only way to stop the slaughter is to predict the next victim. But when you're dealing with vengeance at its most ruthless, one wrong move can make you a target . . . and the next word you utter could be your last . . .
