This year's edition of the OECD-FAO Agricultural Outlook projects the global meat supply to expand over the projection period, reaching 374 Mt by 2030. Herd and flock expansion, especially in the Americas and China, will drive this growth. The report highlights the importance of sustainable agricultural practices to ensure food security and environmental sustainability.