STUDY QUESTIONS

These general exams are English Composition (with or without essay), Humanities, College Mathematics, Natural Sciences, and Social Sciences and History. The five main exams are designed to test the skills and knowledge that most students take as requirements in the first two years of college. The General CBT in English Composition gauges the skills you would need to complete most first-year college English courses. The exam includes material usually covered in an undergraduate course with a similar title to that of the exam (e.g., History of the United States). However, the five exams may cover material that was not part of your college education. For more information about each of the CLEP General Examinations, please see the General CBTs Studying for the CLEP General CBTs Test-Taking Tips The Day of the Test CHAPTER 2: ENGLISH COMPOSITION REVIEW Description of the CLEP General Examinations: The English Composition CBT is designed to test your ability to write effective and well-organized essays. The test consists of two sections. The first section, Essay I, requires you to write a response to a prompt that is based on the prompt. The second section, Essay II, requires you to write a response to a prompt that is based on the prompt.
