that this is normal [well, as normal as anything is with car people], and embarks on this journey himself. Writing in his trademark Hack Mechanic voice that’s enthralled readers for 35 years, Rob describes his original eight-year relationship with his highly-modified 1975 BMW 2002 “Bertha,” selling the car to a dear friend, its 26 years of storage, and buying it back in a weak whisky-soaked moment only to experience the “oh dear God what did I just do?” regret when he raises the long-closed garage door and come face-to-face with the badly deteriorated car. The book details the steps Rob went through to get the car running, then driving, then sufficiently sorted to make a 2000-mile drive, and how the reconstruction with the car was so much deeper than he expected. Resurrecting Bertha is about more than just the nuts and bolts; it’s about deciding what’s important, the joy of doing good, and how, if you do it right, not only can you go home again, but you can do so in the same car.

Physical Studies of Minor Planets Tom Gehrels 1971  * ... Some papers and discussions included in this book even though they were not presented at the meeting. In some respects, therefore, the book is independent of the colloquium. Several papers had been invited long beforehand with the request to publish them as review papers. The lack of a modern textbook on minor planets is keenly felt, and the proceedings of this meeting, with these additions, should provide a good reference book.*-Page viii.
