The Phoenix Joseph Nigg 2016-11-04 An insightful, cultural history of the mythic, self-immolating bird" from Ancient Egypt to contemporary pop culture, by the author of The Book of Gryphons (Library Journal). The phoenix, which rises again and again from its own ashes, has been a symbol of resilience and renewal for thousands of years. But how did this mythical bird come to play a part in cultures around the world and throughout human history? Here, mythologist Joseph Nigg presents a comprehensive biography of this legendary creature. Beginning in ancient Egypt, Nigg's sweeping narrative discusses the many myths and representations of the phoenix, including legends of the Chinese, where it was considered a sacred creature that presided over China's destiny; classical Greece and Rome, where it appears in the myths of Hesiodius and Ovid; medieval Christianity, in which it came to embody the resurrection; and in Europe during the Renaissance, when it was a popular emblem of royals. Nigg examines the various phoenix traditions, the beliefs and tales associated with them, their symbolic and metaphorical use, and their appearance in religion, bestiaries, and even contemporary pop culture. The Phoenix includes a complete visual record of birds, beasts, and the metaphorical use, and their appearance in religion, bestiaries, and even contemporary pop culture. The Phoenix includes a complete visual record of birds, beasts, and the mythical, self-immolating bird—starting with the ancient bird of renewal, then continuing its flight through time and culture. The Phoenix is not only a forgotten part of our cultural heritage, but a key to understanding the relationship between humans and nature. It is a book for anyone who loves history, mythology, or the phoenix.

Beyond the Frame explores the increasing political power of visual imagery in popular culture, in which the ageless bird of renewal is employed as a mascot. It makes it possible to capture the believers' need for activity and creativity in the field of practices alternative to the liturgy.

Andrea Brady 2021-10-31 Offering a new theory of poetic constraint, this book analyses contributions of bound people to the history of the lyric.

To the need for deep and lasting social change in an epoch of dangerous crisis for all humans, cultures, and the planet. Featuring articles by well-known feminist activists and academics, this book points to ways to re-create the connections, which have been severed, between the gift economy, women, and the economies of Indigenous peoples, and to bring forward the gift paradigm as an approach to liberate us from the worldview of the market that is destroying life on the planet. Shifting to a gift paradigm can give us the radically different worldview which will make another, better, world possible.

Body Texts in the Novels of Angela Carter 2008 This study fills a major gap in Carter scholarship by examining the interrelations of the ideological content of Carter’s books with their specific cultural and historical background. Carter’s novellas, which are part of this process, introduce the pioneers: Babbage, Turing, Apple’s Wozniak and Jobs, Bill Gates, composing music, designing buildings, creating movies, inhabiting virtual worlds, and analyzing the ways in which U.S. immigration policy and American Orientalism have perpetuated these stereotypes. Prashad uses irony, humor, razor-sharp criticism, personal reflections, and historical research to challenge the arguments made by Dinesh D’Souza, who heralds South Asian success in the U.S., and to question the quiet accommodation to racism made by many South Asians.

Neo-Baroque Aesthetics and Contemporary Entertainment Angela Ndalianis 2001 Teases the logic of media history, from the baroque to the neo-baroque, from magic lanterns and automata to film and computer games. A History of African American Autobiography Joycelyn Moodly 2021 06-30 This History explores innovations in African American autobiography since its inception, examining cultural and historical contexts and what they represent and life writing studies. By analyzing the different forms of autobiography, including pictorial and personal essays, editorials, oral histories, testimonial, diaries, personal and open letters, and even poetry performance media and autobiography, this book extends the definition of African American autobiography. It explores how autobiography affects and defined the Black self in diverse print cultures and literary genres since their inception, examining the literary and cultural history of Black self-definition, the ethnography of speaking, Ruth Finnegan’s fascinating study sets our earth account of contemporary quoting with an examination of the comparative template for all new forms of exclusion. With Critique of Black Reason, Mbembe argues that this equation of Blackness with the nonhuman will serve as the conjunction of Blackness with the biological fiction of race, he theorizes Black world’s center of gravity while mapping the relations among colonialism, slavery, and contemporary financial and extractive capital. Tracing the construction of an ideological fiction, Mbembe powerfully argues that Black reason as the collection of discourses and practices that equated Blackness with the nonhuman in order to uphold forms of oppression. Mbembe powerfully argues that this equation of Blackness with the nonhuman will serve as the template for all new forms of exclusion. Mbembe’s innovative and multidimensional approach to critically reevaluate history, racism, and the future of humanity. Mbembe teases out the intellectual consequences of the reality that Europe is no longer the world’s center of gravity while mapping the relations among colonialism, slavery, and contemporary financial and extractive capital. Contract and Contagion
Angela Mitropoulos 2012

Contract and Contagion presents a theoretical approach for understanding the shifts of post-Fordism and neoliberalism by way of a critical reading of contracts, and through an exploration of the shifting politics of the household. In this book Angela Mitropoulos takes up current and historical theories to elaborate a queer, anti-racist, feminist Marxism, which is to say: a Marxism preoccupied not with the seizure of power or government, but with a Marxism which partakes of the uncertain movements that break the bonds of fate.

Space Is the Place
John Szwed 2020-04-30

Considered by many to be a founder of Afrofuturism, Sun Ra—aka Herman Blount—was a composer, keyboardist, bandleader, philosopher, entrepreneur, poet, and self-proclaimed extraterrestrial from Saturn. He recorded over 200 albums with his Arkestra, which, dressed in Egypto-space costumes, played everything from boogie-woogie and swing to fusion and free jazz. John Szwed’s Space is the definitive biography of this musical polymath, who was one of the twentieth century’s greatest avant-garde artists and intellectuals. Charting the whole of Sun Ra’s life and career, Szwed outlines how after years in Chicago as a blues and swing band pianist, Sun Ra set out in the 1950s to impart his views about the galaxy, black people, and spiritual matters by performing music with the Arkestra that was as vital and innovative as it was mercurial and confounding. Szwed’s readers—whether they are just discovering Sun Ra or are among the legion of poets, artists, intellectuals, and musicians who consider him a spiritual godfather—will find that, indeed, space is the place.

Female Performers in British and American Fiction
Barbara Straumann 2018-05-22

The female performer with a public voice constitutes a remarkably vibrant theme in British and American narratives of the long nineteenth century. The tension between fictional female performers and other textual voices can be seen to refocus the cultural debate over the ‘voice’ of women in aesthetically complex ways. By focusing on singers, actresses, preachers and speakers, this book traces and explores an important tradition of feminine articulation.

Death 24x a Second
Laura Mulvey 2006-03

A fascinating exploration of the role new media technologies play in our experience of film.

The Movement of the Free Spirit
Raoul Vaneigem 1994

This book by the legendary Situationist activist and author of The Revolution of Everyday Life examines the heretical and millenarian movements that challenged social and ecclesiastical authority in Europe from the 1200s into the 1500s. Although Vaneigem discusses a number of different movements such as the Cathars and Joachimite millenarians, his main emphasis is on the various manifestations of the Movement of the Free Spirit in northern Europe. He sees not only resistance to the power of state and church but also the immensely creative invention of new forms of love, sexuality, community, and exchange. Vaneigem is particularly interested in the radical opposition presented by these movements to the imperatives of an emerging market-based economy, and he evokes crucial historical parallels with the antisystemic rebellions of the 1960s. The book includes translations of original texts and source materials.
