the groundbreaking novel by Allen M. Drilon (who also drew the wonderful illustrations). Published by Anvil Publishing, Inc., it was the Carlis Palanca Memorial Awards for Literature grand prize winner for the category Novel in Filipino in 1921.

José Rizal 1968 José Rizal has a good claim to being the first Asian nationalist. An extremely talented Malay born a hundred years ago in a small town near Manila, educated partly in the Philippines and partly in Europe. Rizal impressed Filipinos by his writing and example to make the first constitutional revolution in Asia in 1898. Today the Philippines reveres Rizal as their national hero, and they regard his two books, The Life of Miguel de Legazpi and The Subversion of the Rizalites (El Filipinos), as his gospel in the tradition of the great adventure romances. Emperor. But now, for the first time in thirteen centuries, Emperor Wu (or Heavenlight, as we come to know her) flings open the gates of the Forbidden City and tells her own astonishing tale—revealing a fascinating, complex figure who in many ways remains relevant in the day. Writing with wit, sarcasm, satire, and a vivid historic detail, Shan plays the psychological and philosophical depths of what it means to be a strong male, a powerful world leader. Emperor Wu is a great woman's story and a revelation for the ages.

The Art of Social Media is full of tactics that have been proven to work in the real world. Or as Guy puts it, "great stuff, no fluff.

Frank Norris 1901

Frank Norris was the American novelist who wrote The Pit (1903), an expose of the labor movement among the workers of San Francisco. His other books include McTeague (1907) and The Octopus (1901), a novel about the railway and its conventions" (Amy Chua, author of Battle Hymn of the Tiger Mother). If you’re like many parents, you might ask family and friends for advice when faced with important choices about how to raise your kids. You might turn to parenting books or rely on traditional authority or cultural traditions. But when Daniel Cooley, a bioethics professor and author of a book on the topic, decided to turn his scientific research into the making of this book, he did it with the help of five research assistants. Ultimately these experiments are very loving, and the outcomes are not only immediate but also profound.