Guides: Global Climate Change Ernest Zebrowski 2011-02-11 “Climate change is not the end of the world as we know it—yet,” according to a frequently quoted line from the film The Day After Tomorrow. But the evidence is mounting that we are heading for a climate disaster from which there is no escape if we do not act now. In this comprehensive resource book on current trends and best practices, author Ernest Zebrowski, a prominent scientist and educator, examines everything from melting glaciers and disappearing snow covers to increased levels of carbon dioxide in our atmosphere. He also explains the role that every woman who is concerned about the future of our planet and the health of our children can play in curtailing the worst possible ramifications of our disordered actions (including rising seas, more violent storms, and alterations in agricultural productivity) of environmental damage. If you need to understand what global warming is, what it means, and what it implies for your life, this book is for you. Zebrowski provides a readable, comprehensive manner. The book’s major premise focuses on the early identification of learning disabilities and intervention of learning disabilities which can impact a child’s academic performance by making achievement possible. Critical information is discussed to prevent undetected learning disability which may lead even an older student to struggle with poor grades, low self-esteem, loss of interest in higher education, and reduced employment. The book presents current knowledge-based information on problems outside of the school that impact the field of learning disabilities. The book is based on instructional best practice approaches and new technology is provided that should enhance the academic teaching of students with severe learning difficulties. Finally, there is a chapter on the role that school counselors play in planning for college and careers in a climate of societal change.

Currawong Creek Jennifer Scouller 2013-06-26 Brisbane lawyer Clare Mitchell has a structured, orderly life. That is, until she finds herself the unlikely guardian of a small, troubled boy. In desperation, Clare takes Jack to stay at Currawong Creek, her grandfather's horse stud in the foothills of the beautiful Bunya Mountains. Here life moves at a different pace, and for Clare it feels like coming home. Her grandad adores having them there. Jack loves the animals. And Clare finds herself falling hard for the handsome local vet. But trouble is coming. The Pyramid Mining Company threatens to destroy the land Clare loves—and with it, her newfound happiness. 'An excellent read.' Newcastle Herald 'Delightful, thoughtful and heartwarming.' Book'd Out 'Ms Scouller's love of the land truly shines through...Told with warmth and humour, this is a story about family, the risks and rewards of selfless devotion and the powerful bonds we form with animals and the land.' Book Muster Down Under Praise for Jennifer Scouller's Brumby's Run: 'A lovely story of family and self-discovery, of love of the land and the wildlife that live on it.' 1 Girl . . . 2 Many Books 'Celebrates the country and, more importantly, the bush as a life-changing environment...A heart-thumping romance.'

Current Medical Diagnoasosis Treatment 2001 Tierney 2000-10-01 Current Hypotheses and Research Milestones in Alzheimer's Disease Ricardo B. Maccioni 2000-02-27 Almost four decades of innovative and intensive research on Alzheimer’s disease (AD) have brought major advances in our understanding of its pathogenesis, improved tools for diagnosis, and strategies for its treatment. This research has helped build a solid foundation of knowledge in the neurosciences and biological basis of AD and AD-related neurological disorders. Scientific background and insightful hypotheses are of major relevance in order to approach to an effective therapy for this devastating disease. Current Hypotheses and Research Milestones in Alzheimer’s Disease contains 20 seminal chapters by authors with varying views on the neuroanatomical, neuropathological, neuropsychological, neurological, and molecular aspects of AD. These chapters grew out of “Current Hypothesis on Alzheimer’s Disease”, held in Viña del Mar, Chile, in November of 2007. Participants included the world’s leading Alzheimer’s researchers, whose work has illuminated AD investigations during the past few decades. Students, academics and medical professionals will find this text an invaluable addition to the study of this important subject.

Current Issues in School Leadership Larry W. Hughes 2005-01-15 Current Issues in School Leadership examines controversies about—and affecting—school practice. Focusing on two essential questions—and what is important to today’s school leaders—and what is interfering with schooling processes—it includes chapters by a broad range of authors, with expertise on their specific topic. The text is organized in three sections: • Social and Political Issues; • Curriculum and Learning Issues; and • Organization and Management Issues. The goal of this text—designed for school leadership, educational administration, and foundations of education courses—is to challenge readers to think carefully and critically about each of the issues presented, leading to positive action and leadership.
