The Meaning of Zong (NHB Modern Plays) Giles Terera 2021-09-16 1783. A new time. Unprecedented ideas, empires and wealth, and it is slavery gears the stages. That night in the storm, I was someone else. It took this story to show me who I truly am. Two hundred years ago, Olausud Equiano changed the world. Reading reports of a massacre aboard the slave ship Zong, where 132 enslaved Africans were thrown overboard, he joins forces with anti-slavery campaigner Granville Sharp to publicly condemn these abhorrent actions, setting in motion events which would go on to galvanise the abolition movement in the UK. But Olausud's impassioned fight for justice goes beyond the courtroom. Having bought his own freedom, he now faces a personal battle to rediscover his past and accept his true self. Weaving together the many lives affected by these events across the globe, Giles Terera's bold inventive debut play The Meaning of Zong is a timely response to the social upheaval the world has witnessed in recent years. It is staged at Bristol Old Vic in April 2022. Giles Terera is an acclaimed actor, musician and filmmaker, who starred as Aaron Burr in the UK production of Lin-Manuel Miranda's Hamilton - The Musical, for which he won the 2018 Olivier Award for Best Actor in a Musical.
