
Overview of Information Literacy Resources Worldwide Forest W. Horton 2013 A "publication of the International Federation of Library Operators and Users (IFA/IFLA)", this book is a "compendium of resources from around the world". The book includes annotated, categorized, and ranked descriptions of educational resources, with a database of over 2000 resources. The book is intended for educators, researchers, and librarians interested in information literacy.

The book includes a comprehensive review of information literacy resources from around the world. The resources are organized by country and region, and each entry includes a description of the resource, a contact person, and a URL. The book also includes a list of organizations and institutions involved in information literacy, and a glossary of terms.

Olaf Zawacki-Richter 2019-11-21 In this book, the author presents a comprehensive overview of information literacy resources worldwide. The book includes a database of over 2000 resources, organized by country and region. Each entry includes a description of the resource, a contact person, and a URL. The book also includes a list of organizations and institutions involved in information literacy, and a glossary of terms.

The book presents a comprehensive overview of information literacy resources worldwide. The resources are organized by country and region, and each entry includes a description of the resource, a contact person, and a URL. The book also includes a list of organizations and institutions involved in information literacy, and a glossary of terms.

For more information, please visit the book website.

National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.) at standards for high and high school library catalogues. The standards are organized into two parts: leadership standards and content area literacy.