The Promise of Politics
Hannah Arendt
Arendt lectured on “Kant’s Political Philosophy,” using the Critique of Judgment as her main text. The book is largely unknown, drawing from interviews conducted in Israel and in the U.S., as well as from videotaped interviews and letters, including letters written to Arendt by survivors who went to Auschwitz and Belsen. This book calls for methodological pluralism and the integration of the voices and narratives of the veterans in the construction of political concepts and theoretical systems. To achieve this, Arendt expands her study of political thought by gathering testimonies from the survivors of the Holocaust. The Portable Arendt includes added material from Kristeva’s most important works of the past five years, including The Sense and Non-Sense of Revolt, Intimate Revolt, and Hannah Arendt. Editor Kelly Oliver has gathered and published. The final and longer section of The Promise of Politics, titled “Introduction into Total Attention,” bridges Arendt’s work from The Origins of Totalitarianism to The Human Condition, published in 1958.
